

Laura's Secret Garden

By

Emma DeBoard

March 5, 2007

Grade 1

One day, Laura was looking out her bedroom window when she saw a red door in the tall bushes outside. Laura went to see if the door was open. It was locked. She saw a key in the grass nearby and picked it up. It opened the door. She went through the door and into a garden with white bunnies and pretty trees and deer. The animals knew she would be nice to them, so they visited a while.

When Laura left to go home, an evil troll captured the baby bunnies. Laura heard the mommy bunny say, “the evil troll captured our babies! Please help us!” Laura was good at finding clues and saw their footprints in the muddy grass and decided to follow them. They led to an ugly castle that smelled really bad!

The troll lived in the castle and took the bunnies there. Laura followed the footprints and went into the castle and plugged her nose. She saw the bunnies in a cage. She saw a key on a nearby counter. She unlocked the cage and took the bunnies home. She kept the garden a secret, so from then on, it was called the secret garden.

bunny family

